As a grant writer, I have over 5 years of experience working with charter schools and other non-profit organizations to research and write grants as well as develop long-term goals, objectives, curriculum and plans for grant proposals.

Since 2004, I have worked with the staff and directors at Gulf Coast Academy of Science and Technology (GCA) to develop proposals for over 50 different grants and help the school competently achieve its charter mission. In addition, I currently work with several other non-profit organizations including Florida Organic Growers and the Harvest of Hope Foundation to strategically plan for organizational growth and development supported by grant funding.

If you are interested in grants as a viable method to achieve sustainability and success at your school, please call or e-mail me for a free initial consultation so that I may research and discuss grant options that fit the mission of your school!
